

Have You Piles?

Then You Have Something to Learn.
Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished by using the only medicine that neither cuts nor causes any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.
Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete cure in the blood vessels in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. C. Leonard's medicine is first to find the remedy. His prescription is HEM-ROID, a tablet medicine taken internally, that is now sold by all druggists. Dr. Leonard tried it in 1,000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent. He has given relief to thousands of people, and should do the same for you—it seldom fails.

GRAZE FOR DOPE DROVE

TWO MEN TO BURGLARY

One arrest has been made and the police are on the trail of the second robber, both of whom are in connection with the breaking and entering of two dentists' and physician's offices Tuesday night in New London. James H. Mead of Plainville, N. Y., was arrested about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening by Sergt. Charles Hammond and on Friday pleaded guilty to a burglary charge in police court. Mead alleges that his partner was bound over to the next term of the superior court under a bond of $1,000. In default of which he was committed to jail.

Mead has informed the police of the identity of his partner on the night of the robbery and every effort is being made to capture the second man. Mead was found in possession of a fountain pen which he had stolen from Dr. M. L. Small, however.

The two men broke into the office of Dr. A. H. Sherwood at 154 State street, shortly after midnight on Tuesday, and into the office of Dr. M. L. Small and Dr. A. G. Abernethy early Wednesday morning. They divided the loot and separated.

TRouble WITH MUSICIANS BRINGS STRAND THEATRE TO CLOSE DOORS

Difficulties with the Norwich Musicians' union, which have made it impossible for him to get an orchestra or even a piano player for the Strand theatre on Water street have brought on the decision to close the theatre, according to an announcement made Friday night by A. Davidson owner and manager of the theatre.

The theatre will give its last motion picture show on Sunday night and will be closed Monday. Friday night there was but one show given and that without any music.

In stating what his troubles with the Norwich Musicians union were Mr. Davidson said that at the opening of the theatre he secured a local orchestra but it was found necessary to secure a male orchestra and he then secured what he believed to be the best musicians in town under the leadership of Frank Benson.

After this orchestra had been playing at the Strand for two or three weeks practically every vaudeville show that was put on was handicapped by this orchestra and they complained to Mr. Davidson.

Because of this Mr. Davidson said that he spoke to Mr. Benson and thereupon Mr. Benson gave notice to him that he would sever his connection with the theatre orchestra on June 10th and would no longer play for him.

Mr. Davidson thereupon secured from Newport a union leader for his orchestra and he had him here in the city ready to be called upon by the local Musicians' union would not allow him to play. Last week Thursday and Friday the union secured two other players in the city and they played on Saturday and Sunday.

When Mr. Davidson was notified Sunday night that these musicians could no longer play for him because the local musicians union would not allow them to play, Mr. Davidson tried unsuccessfully to secure a new orchestra belonging to the musicians union but the local union he says, refused to allow them to play at his theatre with the result that Mr. Davidson had to discontinue vaudeville and arrange to have a musical show which he had booked for the coming week. He also was unable to continue showing pictures for the reason that he cannot secure an orchestra.

The next move, said Mr. Davidson, came after the Norwich musicians union held a meeting June 16 and the following communication was sent to him: "At a meeting of Local No. 35 A. F. of M., held June 16th, your petition for consent to engage a ladies' orchestra was presented and I was instructed to notify you that this local will not grant your request of June 16th, 1920, and no member of the American Federation of Musicians, either male or female will be allowed to play in your house. Respectfully, Fred N. Clark, Secretary No. 35."

Thursday night, said Mr. Davidson, President James L. McNulty, and other officers of the Central Labor Union saw him and labored with him not to issue a statement which he had prepared announcing his purpose to close the Strand theatre.

After some time, Mr. Davidson consented to defer issuing the statement and telephoned to The Bulletin asking that the statement be not used. One of the men at the meeting, who refused to tell who he was said telephoned and pleaded that nothing he said to bring the name of the Central Labor Union into the matter. The conference between Mr. Davidson and the Central Labor Union representatives continued till one o'clock Friday morning, Mr. Davidson said, and a letter was written to the international officers of the musicians at New York.

Late Friday night, the Central Labor Union officers again saw Mr. Davidson and he said, this time, their proposition was that he should apologize to Mr. Benson. This Mr. Davidson refused to do, he held, holding that he had done nothing which called for any apology.

According to what he has been told, said Mr. Davidson, practically all of the labor unions of the city are in sympathy with the musicians union and most of the members of the musicians union feel the same way and believe that he has been absolutely upright and square with the union and deserves better treatment than he has received. According to some of the members of the union it is the "rawest deal" they have ever heard of.

Mr. Davidson is grateful to the people of Norwich for their patronage and appreciation of everything that has been done for him and sorry that he is unable to continue longer with the theatre but it is solely, he says, through the fault of the Musicians' union and their method of doing business that compels him to retire from the theatre field.

When he leased the Strand theatre from the Shannon estate he spent about $20,000, he says, in making numerous improvements, which included a new seat, arrangement, new lighting, electric and redecorating the interior and the Strand was one of the prettiest theatres in this city. When he opened the theatre, he showed a high class vaudeville and for many months the vaudeville in the city was at the Strand theatre and no expense was spared in securing the best of vaudeville and in making the Strand theatre a leader in the field.

Working Overtime on City Clock

"Hey there," yelled a Norwich theatre man to a painter swinging a brush about the clock on the city hall this week. "You're working overtime."

"No, not me," called back the painter as he proceeded with his work, unconscious of the joke that had "gone over his head."

Perhaps some day a genius will rise to the occasion and invent a noiseless photograph.

WEDDING

Croft-Bebe.

A wedding of interest to many Norwich people took place in Springfield, Mass., Tuesday, June 15th, when Miss S. Th. Bebe was united in marriage with Ronald Lloyd Croft.

The wedding was held in the parlors of the First church, where both bride and groom are members, which had been decorated with white blossoms and palms. While the wedding march was played by Miss Katherine Packard, a friend of the bride, the bride party entered the church, the bride with her brother, Frederick C. Bebe of New York, who gave her away. Rev. Dr. Nell McPherson officiated, using the double ring service.

The bride was very lovely in a gown of white Georgette with a veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Edna E. Lerou of Norwich, cousin of the bride, attended as maid of honor, and wore a dainty gown of apricot chiffon with hat of black horse hair. She carried Ophele roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Sylvia Bachelder, Bertha Suter, Mary Moriarty and Emma Hoyle, wore pretty gowns in light shades of organdie with hats to match and carried baskets of sweet peas.

Best man, Miss Ellis Johnson and Miss Edith Vickerman were ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors and refreshments were served. Many beautiful gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Croft, including silver, cut glass, china, pictures, electric appliances, and a chest of gold from the Harley Co., where the groom is an accountant.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Etta Carroll Bebe, whose family for several generations have been prominent in Norwich. She is a graduate of Tech. High school and has been in the accounting department of the New England Telephone and Telephone Co.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Gray and holds a responsible position with the Harley Co.
